

Ancient Future Wisdom

at Connectathon

Dear colleagues, dear friends, we are at a civilizational crossroads, an initiatory threshold for our entire species where the limits of our knowing meet the potential for true interbeing. The opportunity now arises to transform our fragmented realities into cohering components of integral futures. We can seize this opportunity to deliver pan-civilisational and trans-generational intertwining. It can empower us to move through the current epochal interregnum between the society that no longer works and the one that has yet to be born. To do so, we need to go beyond the current reality by remembering the wisdom of the last 7 generations for 7 more to come, re-storying the ancient wisdom of indigenous cultures.

In the connectathon we will use  »Connective Intelligence« to create a »Collective Intelligence«  by drawing on »Collective Empathy« to manifest our »Collective Wisdom«.

This flow can only be created together, in recognition and service of the much-needed balance between the collective and individual dimensions of the whole. We will focus on the origins of leadership and structures that support people to thrive – together.

Introduction:

Indigenous people's leadership and the structures within which they organise themselves are based on a complex system of knowledge, wisdom, intuition, relationships and various language modalities.

Indigenous languages carry traces of local cultures, customs, behaviours, and values, visible or hidden, tangible or only recognised in the melody or their rhythms, enduring for thousands of years. They are living languages, sourced from the land, expressing the connections with the land, beings and cosmic cycles.

Indigenous wisdom is now powerfully inviting us to extend the gift of listening to our past generations. Collectively, we have a potential to surface a deeper form of wisdom to embody and enact inspired action that can help the world thrive.

Six dialogues across various time zones will allow participants from all around the world to share their indigenous knowledge and wisdom about leadership and decision-making structures, uncovering their underlying structures and embedded messages. At the same time, we will listen to our inner intuitive voices to transmit important messages from our collective consciousness for today and the next 7 generations to come.

For example: Drawing on the notion of Nepantla – a concept used in Chicano and Latino anthropology, social commentary, criticism, literature and art to represent the notion of "in-between-ness," we will address the 4 questions below by exploring the space between two times of civilisation – the interstitial time of co-creation and the collective self-realization of the next stage of human presence on Earth.

👉 Join us! 👈

Register  <https://bit.ly/3KIVkKS>

Stay tuned!

ecocivilisation