

Peace & Non-violence: From the Roots of the Original People:

Joint Collaboration of Indo-Mexican Indigenous Peoples for a Better Tomorrow

Learning lessons from Mother Earth for human existence is the Indigenous way of life, which the Indigenous communities across the world have been practicing even today. The voice of the original peoples, echo of the oral transmission of ancestral knowledge, resonates in the memory like our heartbeat in the mother's womb. The Indigenous persons from India and Mexico will engage into exchange of social, cultural and ecological thoughts, proposals, accomplishments and defeats so that we can gather rays of hope for more authentic, peaceful, sensible and non-violent human living. This webinar will explore further possibilities for the Global Policy Makers in framing better policies taking into account the traditional knowledge, National and International Laws for protection of the environment, resource management and to achieve Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).
